Mr. Frank S. Borris II
Director, Office of Defects Investigation
National Highway Traffic Safety Administration
1200 New Jersey Avenue SE
Washington, DC 20590

Dear Mr. Borris:

Attached please find the updated list of the 314 consumer complaints filed with the Center for Auto Safety (CAS) on Chrysler Totally Integrated Power Module (TIPM) issues. Full complaints may be viewed by clicking on the "View" link in the far left column of the electronic version of this letter.

The following complaints are selected from the most recent supplement to our complaints list, further confirming bizarre and dangerous behavior in vehicles with the TIPM:

I drive a 2007 Dodge Ram 1500. After starting vehicle from getting off work, all dashboard lights (seatbelt, engine, door ajar, P, R, N, D, L, etc.) began lighting up, bell ringing as if car door was open, RPM and speedometer gauge dropped to zero as I was traveling down freeway. This erratic on/off display of lights and bell continued for approx. 3 miles. The following morning I attempted to start the truck, initially it would not start. Instead, the dashboard lights began their erratic display again, bell ringing as if the door was ajar with key in ignition (it was closed), and this time beneath the mileage, was the indication, "no bus". I waited approx. 2 minutes, the truck started up and I immediately drove to my regular mechanic. He hooked up a meter but was unable to find a cause. He recommended taking to Dodge dealership. I dropped off my truck to the Dodge dealership here in the Detroit area the following Tuesday. They kept the vehicle over night and failed to find the cause, stating that they needed to see a code. That week on Thursday, I drove from Detroit, MI to Jackson, MS. While passing through the TN area west of Nashville, the dashboard lights and ringing began again. This display continued for approx 3 miles again, off and on then stopped. On Sunday morning April 19, 2015, I got in truck to return back to Mich. I put the key in the ignition, turned the key with the door closed, dashboard lights began their display again, and "no bus". I waited another one to two minutes before truck started up. Intermittent display throughout entire return trip although truck ran smoothly. Truck was taken back to dealership on April 22. They waited to see the display themselves. Today I was called with the news that I need a "Total Integrated Power Module" costing $1,090.00.

On Sunday, April 26th, 2015, the TIPM failed in my vehicle and there was a complete power failure in my vehicle. We were driving at speeds of 65 mph at the time of the failure, and were almost hit from behind by a semi trailer. We were able to navigate the vehicle to the shoulder. After three attempts, the engine restarted and we were able to arrive at our destination. The vehicle was taken to the dealership, where we were informed no fix was available for the vehicle, despite there being an active safety recall (15V-115) for the issue, in which my specific vehicle is included. The time frame for parts becoming available, given to me by Chrysler, was two years or more. They are unwilling to resolve the issue or work with me any further on the issue.

I have had at least 100 times where my Jeep has stalled and just stopped running. It has happened when I have slowed down, has stopped in intersections. Stopped when starting from a stop etc. I have had numerous manual transmission cars and this has never happened. It scares me , and makes me fear for my life. I have changed the way I drive because of it, with the fear of worrying my Jeep will just stop running , when I pull out into traffic. I have had the switches in the car not work erratically. Lights stay on, when turned off. have turned them off numerous times, finally go out. I have had my breaks respond oddly on very rare occasions don't bother with Jeep, as my mileage is over 36,000- no more warranty. When it did have the warranty , I just assumed it would stop and never addressed the problem. It used to be infrequent, but now this power failure happens often. Some days it happens 4-5 times. Please help me with this matter, I do not want to be injured or killed, due to this problem. I also do not want my family or someone else hurt because of it either, I started doing research about these issues and find I am not the only one, it is common. I also see, all the hinges on my doors are rusting. I also have a whistle in the brake line, vacuum I think??? It causes the brakes to not be strong at times. I have had my brakes completely replaced and this condition persists, it also seems many with my model of Jeep experience this as well.

TIPM is bad. Imagine driving down the road when suddenly-The horn honks continuously on its own. The windshield wipers run and wiper fluid sprays. The lights go on and off and the dash lights show faults.The engine even continues to run after the key is turned off and removed from the ignition. All of this happens at the same time. It's total pandamonium. The only way to stop all of this action is to remove the battery cables from the battery. If you don't have a wrench to disconnect the battery then all this will eventually run the battery down to 0 power. I can't drive it now and leave the battery disconnected because of fear that if I park it in my garage with the battery connected it may short out the electronics and burn my house down in the middle of the night. After investigating it appears that many people are having the same type of problem and it has been identified as the faulty TIPM. All this and on top of that the Death Wobble occurs every once in a while when I drive over a small bump. I've had the tires balance the tow in adjusted new front end alignment and new bar added with brand new tires as a last ditch effort. All that didn't solve the problem.
